

I think the federal law should be more like the one in WI. I don't get any calls except the ones I want from family and friends. I don't want any one making calls to my house at any time to try and sell a services, products, or charities. If I want a product, service, or to donate to a charity, I will look in the phone book, see an ad some ware and will contact them. I don't need the intrusion into my home by telemarketers of any kind.
